Tracy
Well this year has really gone by slow but in a way it has gone fast so. it Sure has been fun this year in Drama (1/2) And going to all the games with ya and the drags. Oh yes and we can't forget the Senior Snowball - with Dean + Lee - And going up to the Arches and setting in the car while a couple of people were out chasing deer. And all the pictures they took (I wonder how they turned out?) And then we can't forget Christmas day + night at the Show with them + after it was over us almost going to Sleep. (especialy me) And then after we went to bed Couldn't go to Sleep. Tracy

MOGRANDAH

GRAND COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL,

MOAB, UTAH

ELIZABETH NELSON--EDITOR

Every year, the hopes and fears of the future are entrusted to graduating classes far and wide across America. Every year they are sent out to fame and success. In a truly grand style, the dominant shadow of fate enshrouds them and exhorts them on to the future and its ever perennial eulogy. Graduation is but a passing hour of glory for most and the promise of the future is never so dazzling as it is then. Enshrined in the hearts of seniors past and present are the golden memories of portentuous happiness and earthshaking auguries. It is to these hopes, glories, fears, joys and agonies that we dedicate the 1967 MOGRANDAH.

Good Luck

In our ever-increasingly complex society, one must be wiser, readily adaptable, and more compatible to his environment. As the Class of 67 journeys through life, we trust that they will turn stumbling blocks into stepping stones, for in the world of work, only those who live with out purposeful employment are demoralized. May each be certain that he finds a place in our American Society.

Hold high your goals and ideals. If you present high ideals strongly enough, others may rise to your level. We believe that the faculty and staff have tried to be a model for you. We recognize that you need models more than critics.

Class of 67, We send our best wishes with you; may your successes be high as you take your place in American Democracy.

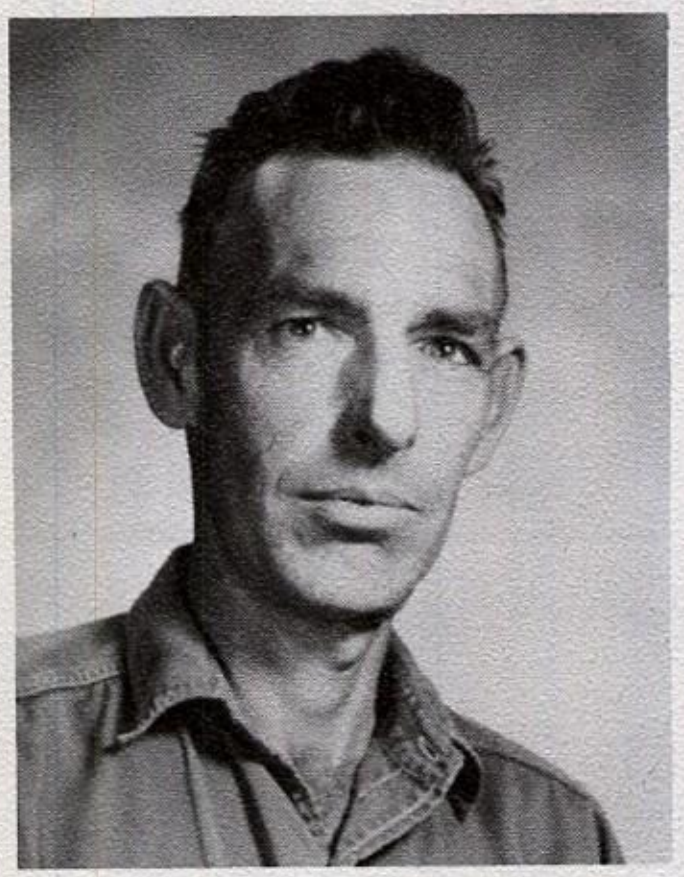
GUIDANCE COUNCELORS

The definition of a councelor's job would enable us to see that every student finds a comfortable and useful place in society. If the definition furnished a magic wand, we could do this. Each human being must find his own way, and so perhaps all we can hope for is the chance to help some of you. However, if we had a magic wand, we would give you three things:

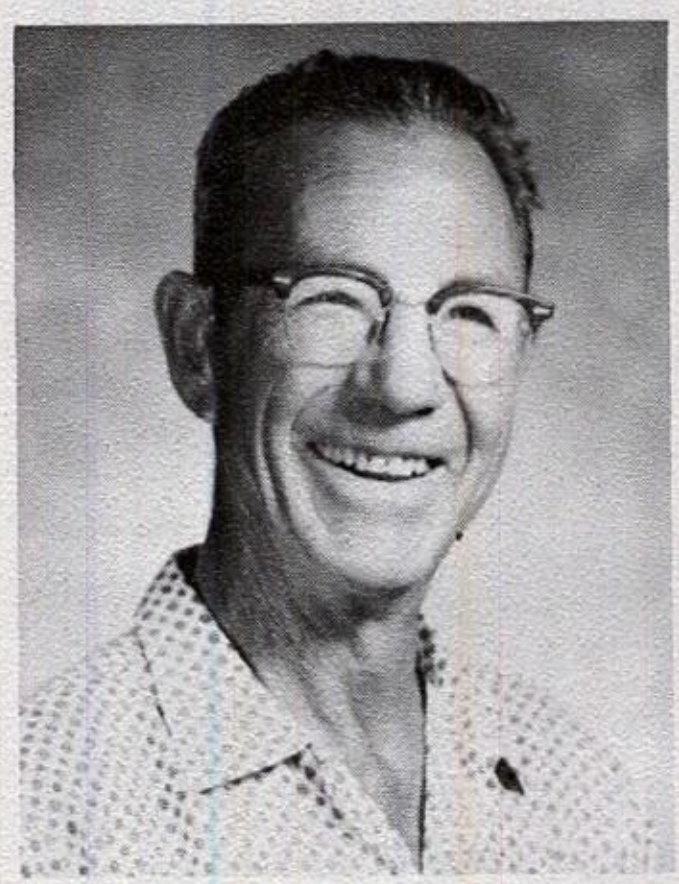
1. A place in the World of Work that would enable you to say in all honesty, "It's a privilege to work."
2. The ability to love and to be loved, which would include a good marriage.
3. The ability to care about others, "To Be Your Brother's Keeper."

Then it would follow as night follows day that you could take your place in the world and accept the bitter with the sweet.

CUSTODIANS



MR. GROVER LAWRENCE



MR. R. W. MONTGOMERY

The contributions of these two men are many and varied--from early hours providing the necessary building maintenance, heating, and lighting to last minute lock-up after night adult education classes have finished. Countless students have taken their problems to them for a solution whether it be help in locating lost articles or aid in opening a jammed locker. Indeed they might be called the guardians and preservers of Grand County High School.

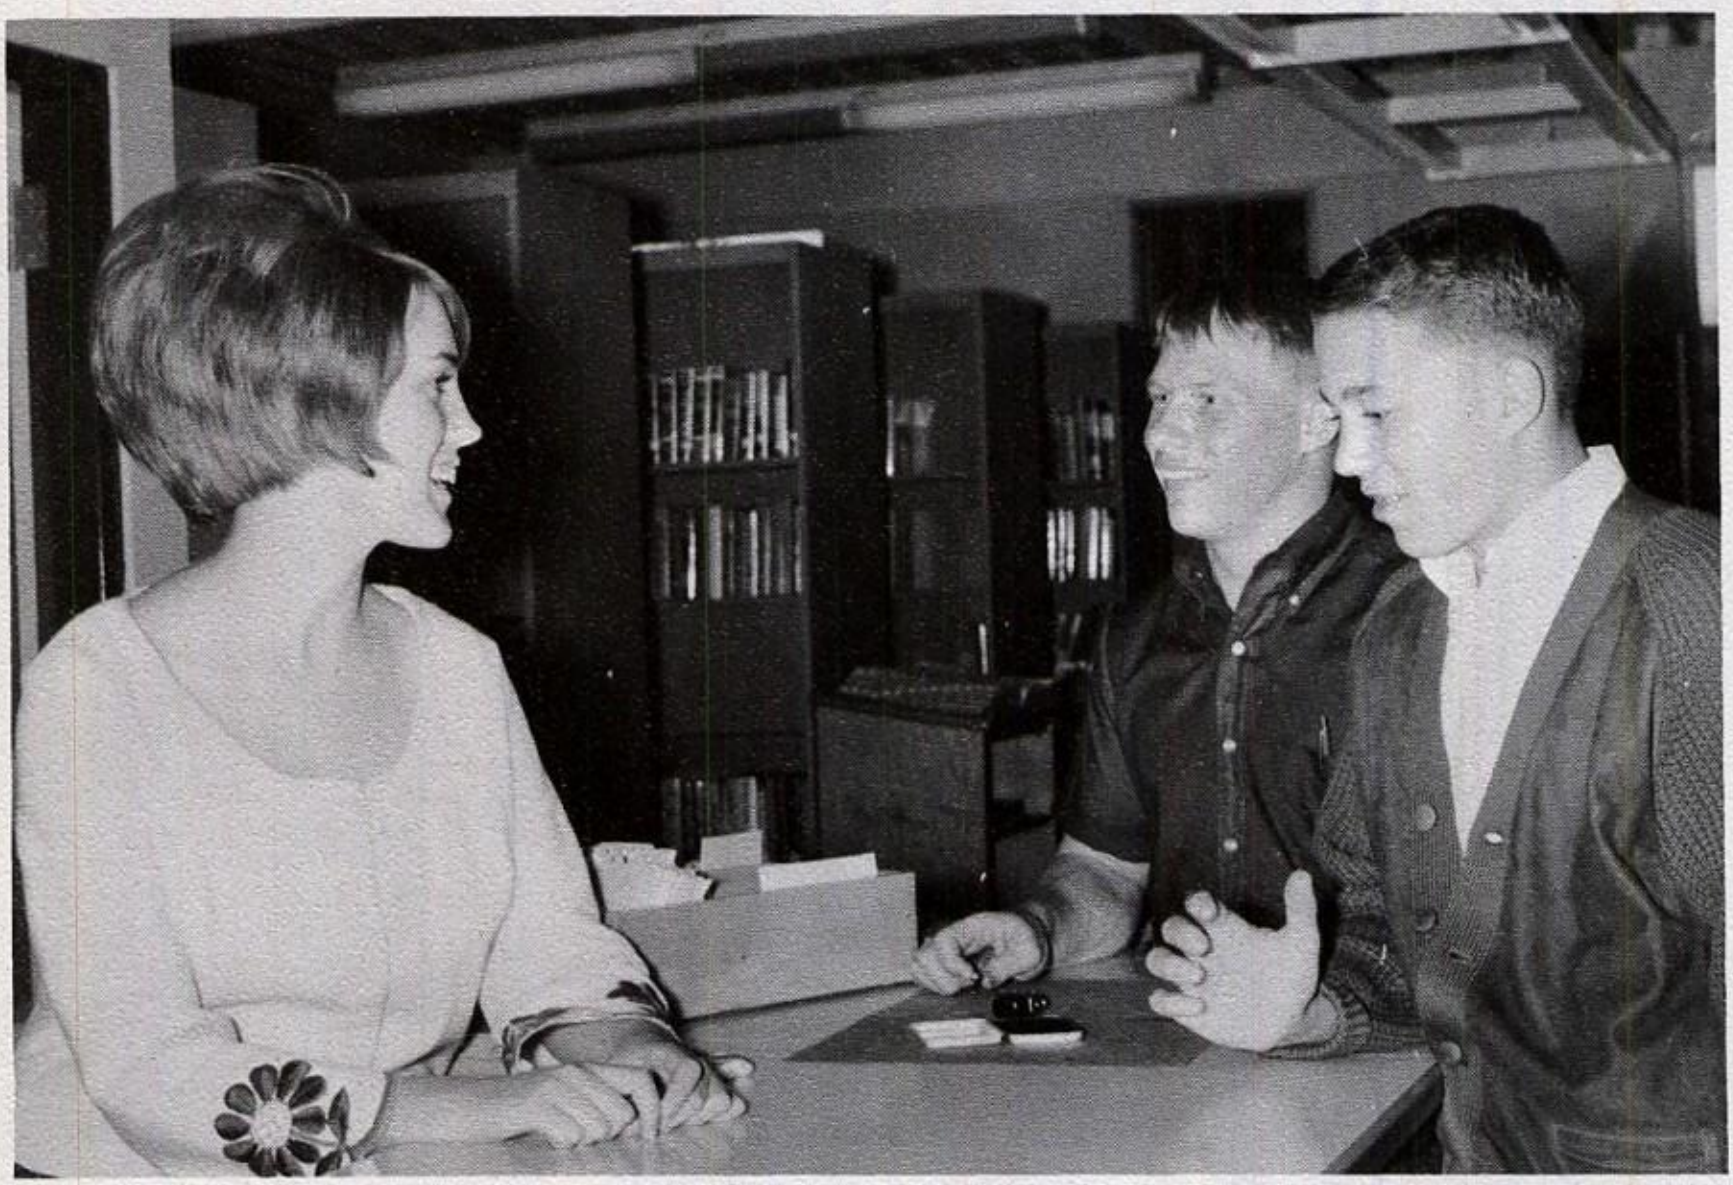
ORGANIZATIONS

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

Kathy Jones, Joe Shoemaker, Kenny Yama



The 1966-67 school year marks a period of definite accomplishment. As a student body we have left a bold mark on the pages of G.C.H.S. history - academically and athletically. But more important, we as individuals, have encountered new experiences, broadened our knowledge, and perhaps gained a clearer view of what the future may hold for each of us.

I would like to express my gratitude to you, the students of Grand County High School, for the many honors and opportunities you have afforded me during this most enjoyable year. May I also commend the co-operation and the true spirit of determination displayed by both students and faculty.

Most sincerly,

Joe Shoemaker
